Your child has a private blogfolio to communicate learning in a variety of ways. You are an important part of the learning process.

Logging In

Your teacher will provide you with a unique id/pw to gain entry into your child's blogfolio. You can either wait until you receive an automated message link in your email or you can choose to access it at any time. Locate your school's website:

Go to CLASSES or STAFF > scroll down to the teacher > click on their website or web page.

Locate your child's name and click. (*You might wish to bookmark this for future times.)

LOG IN with the provided USERNAME ID and PASSWORD. (*If you are unsure, please ask the teacher.)

Click LOG IN

This will take you to the front page of your child's blogfolio.

CHANGE YOUR PASSWORD FROM THE DEFAULT

At the top right, there is a "Howdy, (your ID)". Hover your mouse over it.
Accessing Your Child's Blogfolio

Select EDIT MY PROFILE

Howdy, parent1

parent1
Edit My Profile
Log Out
Scroll down to the bottom > ACCOUNT MANAGEMENT

Select GENERATE PASSWORD

Type in any password that you would prefer.

(Note: A strong password has a minimum of 6 characters with a number or symbol.)

Click UPDATE PROFILE

Account Management

New Password   Generate Password

Sessions   Log Out Everywhere Else
                      You are only logged in at this location.

Update Profile
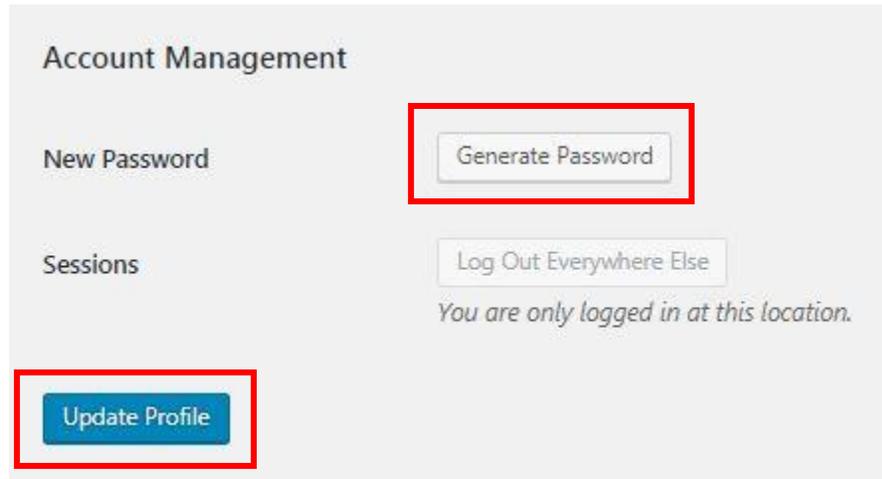

If you forget your password, please email the teacher to have it reset.

See Your Child's Learning

Click on your child's name to flip between the front of the site and the back of the site.
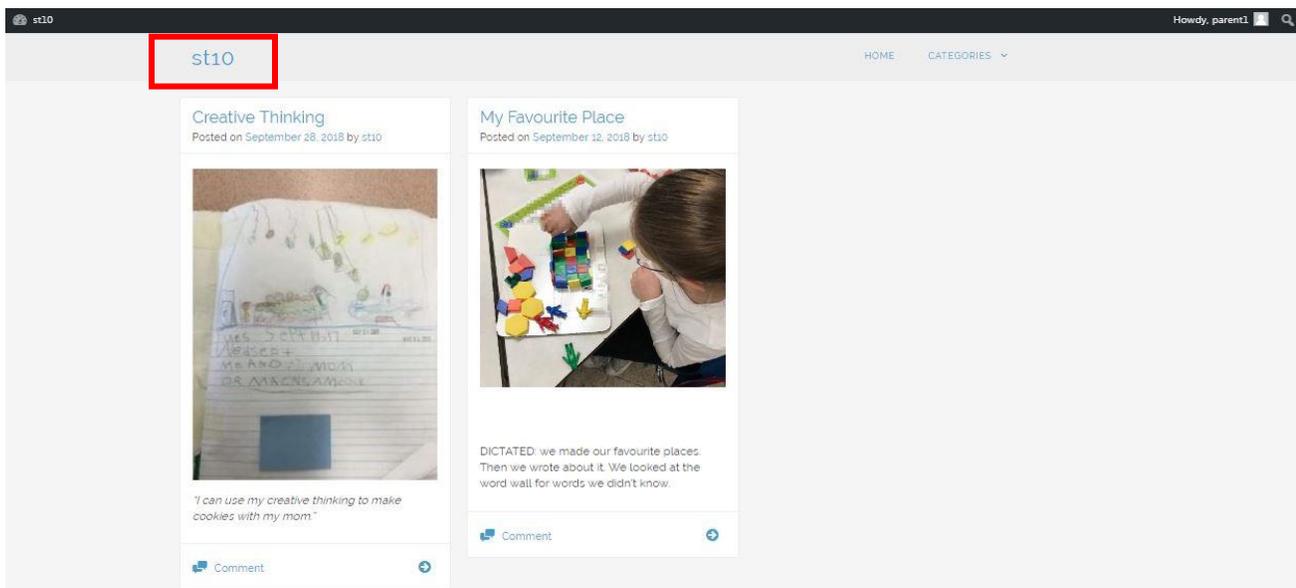

This example shows 2 posts. They are by date order; the most recent one is first. As posts are published the area will continue to fill producing a grid-like effect.

My Favourite Place
Posted on September 12, 2018 by st10

DICTATED: we made our favourite places. Then we wrote about it. We looked at the word wall for words we didn't know.

This entry was posted in Artistry, Communication, Perspectives, Prototype/Make.

Next →

Clicking on the TITLE of a post will expand into full view.

You may see an image with written details or an audio recording or a video clip or a written piece of text.

Every post offers an opportunity to LEAVE A REPLY.

The Comment box is for you to respond.

Click POST COMMENT to have your comment saved.

Leave a Reply

Logged in as parent1. Log out?

Comment

This is where you can leave a comment on your child's work. It can be directed towards your child or to the teacher.

Post Comment

Thank you for engaging in your child's learning.