

Music Knows No Borders
Justin Bush

We all have a song within us,
We all march to our own beat.
We all sing a simple melody,
And join in harmony.
We may speak in different tongues,
We may have different holidays,
Our music may sound different,
But it makes us feel the same.

Music is a language
That knows no borders.
Our backgrounds may be different,
But the melodies remain.
Music breaks down walls
Which the world wants us to build up,
When things are sad or joyous
We will stand and sing!

In time of celebration,
In times of great sadness,
Music lifts our hearts and minds
And makes us feel as one.
We learn to love our neighbours
As we share our hopes and dreams,
To build a better future
For you and for me.

Chorus

Throughout the ages we have joined
Our voices as one instrument,
Singing songs of longing
And social betterment.
Since songs of protest
In peace and harmony,
It never was or will be easy,
That's okay with me!
