

Psychology

Psychology is a course that explores different topics about human behaviour. In this course we do many interesting activities, one of the most memorable activities I did in this course was to make a baby book. This project was very enjoyable, it brought back many memories and it gave a better understanding of babies in general. You will learn a lot of useful information by doing small activities and games during class. We also watch movies related to the topics and do small analysis questions. I really recommend it to everyone, it is a very interesting course to do. I hope you enjoy as much as I did.
